SUDBURY CANADA DAYS TO FEATURE CONCERT SAT. AFTERNOON AUG. 11

A program of 19th and 20th century music produced by Stephen T. Seames of Locke Mills will be presented on Saturday, August 11, 1984 at 3:00 p. m. at the Middle Intervale Meeting House as part of The Sudbury Canada Days celebration. Performers include some of the most outstanding vocal soloists in the State of Maine. The music will range from semi-classical to Broadway show tunes and will include a segment of old favorites by a four-part men's group. The program is being sponsored by The Middle Intervale Meeting House Society as a fund raising effort for restoration of the meeting house. Jane Hardy, a professional musician from Biddeford will accompany.

Two of the soloists, Ellen Faulkner and Fred Lange, have appeared with The Maine Opera Company at Deertrees Theater in Harrison. Lanae Ford, a runner-up in the 1984 Miss Maine pageant, most recently played the female lead in "Oklahoma!" with City Theater at the Biddeford, Maine Opera House. Muriel Kruppa has done solo work in numerous operas and musical comedies in California and Maine. Roger Wiles has performed with Victoria Crandell's Brunswick Music Theater, The Portland Players and Portland Lyric Theater. Joe DiSalvatore just completed a summer production of "Brigadoon" with the Town Players in which he played the male lead, Tommy Albright. Other performers include Chrystal Cotsis, Debbie Hardy, Jonathan Currier, Wayne Traver, Glenn Anderson and Stephen Seames. A free-will offering will be taken.

FROM THE bethel town office

Town Highway personnel are completing preparations for conducting the annual road tarring project anticipated for next week. Several road shoulders have been widened, culverts replaced, and ditches repaved. This effort was especially prominent on the Flat Road where embankments had encroached on the road, narrowing it in places to 18 feet. $23,000 was approved in this year's budget for tarring which, at present material costs, can be stretched to cover six miles of road surface.

July sewer bills were mailed last week and residents are reminded that effective with this billing, the rate per 2,000 cubic feet increased from $39 to $41. Anyone having questions on their bill should contact the Town Office.

The Tax assessments for the municipal year July 1, 1984, through June 30, 1985, are nearing completion and the assessors anticipate that tax bills will be mailed in August. As a result of the voters' decision to change to semi-annual tax billing, citizens have the option of paying their taxes in one installment by Nov. 15, 1984, or in two installments with payments due by Nov. 15, 1984, and May 15, 1985.

The Board of Selectmen will meet Monday, Aug. 6, 1984, at 7 p. m. in the Town Office Meeting Room to act on a busy agenda. Having received verbal notification of approval from the Federal Aviation Authority regarding the Town's application for a detailed

SUNDAY RIVAL PURSUIT

No, this not Sunday "Rival Pursuit" but, "who was the first skier to ride the T-Bar at Sunday River Ski Area on opening day 1959?" It has been 25 years since that first skier rode the T-Bar and made that initial exhilarating run down Barker Mountain. This year on their Silver Anniversary, Sunday River Ski Resort is installing Maine's first triple chair lift, completing 136 condominium hotel units, and is fast becoming one of New England's premier destination resorts.

In 1958 a small group of avid skiers convinced the Bethel Chamber of Commerce that a ski area would be a great way of improving the community's winter economy. On April 28 of that year Sunday River Skiway became incorporated issuing the first share of stock to the Honorable Edmund Muskie. Barker Mountain in nearby Newry was selected as the location for the new ski area. With an elevation of 2,582 feet, the mountain was perfect terrain for a variety of slopes ranging from novice to expert. In 1959, after almost locating the slopes on the opposite side of the mountain, a major portion of the proposed development was completed by Clarence "Johnnie" Rolfe and his hard working crew. Sunday River opened for business the following season on the day after Christmas with a 3,200 foot T-Bar aptly named "T-1", an 800 foot rope tow, a main lodge, ski shop and cafeteria, with a 300 car parking area.

The early years were neither easy nor very comfortable. The very first season the Mountain was without a grooming vehicle so that all trails had to be foot-packed. The power company refused to provide electrical service so the board of directors and their wives took turns, spending the night in the lodge making sure the generators kept running. In 1961 another T-Bar, the recently retired T-2 permitted skiing from the top of Barker Mountain to the base lodge. T-2 burnt to the ground in the late 60's during the middle of a busy ski season, but thanks to the volunteer efforts of a group of Green Berets (stationed on the mountain for winter training) the lift was returned to working order. In 1963 a third T-Bar was installed replacing the old rope tow creating a novice area popularly known as the "Mixing Bowl." These T-Bars have provided some interesting moments. One Sunday morning at about 10 o'clock, a gearbox burned out in one of the T-Bars. Luckily, Mit Abram, a nearby ski area, had just removed a similar gearbox from one of their lifts. An energetic and dedicated crew picked up the parts and worked diligently throughout the day to make repairs. By 3 o'clock in the afternoon the heroic crew was finished only to find that the lift ran in reverse.

With each passing year the number of improvements and the ski area continued to grow. In 1970, then General Manager Seppie "Joe" Gmeinder developed his own successful snow guns created from a series of bent iron pipes. The snow making facilities were installed on the Mixing Bowl to hopefully extend the season to Thanksgiving through Easter, regardless of natural snowfall. That year Joe was determined to be open and operating on Thanksgiving. By 11:00 the Mixing Bowl, covered with man-made snow, was crowded with 700 skiers. Joe was forced to call the radio stations to announce that no more tickets could be sold. (So much for a great promotional idea!) To help boost the uniqueness of the mountain and add flair to the Mountain's ski school, Joe imported two instructors from Europe — a Swiss Miss and a French Beau.

In 1971 the Mountain's first chairlift, 5,200 feet long was installed by the Pullman Ferry Corporation of Pullman Railway fame. The chairlift ran from the lodge to the top of the mountain. This coupled with the addition of a three mile novice trail meant the entire mountain was now open to all skiers.

In the Fall of 1972, Sherburne Corporation, owners of Killington Ski Area in Killington, Vt., joined in the development of Sunday River by purchasing controlling interest in the Mountain. The Corporation placed 23 year old Leslie Otten, fresh out of their management training program, as assistant Mountain Manager. The following summer the lodge was enlarged and renovated for the upcoming year and Les Otten moved up to Manager. From the experience and success that had been achieved at Killington it became apparent that the successful operation of Sunday River required more snowmaking. In 1974 the Ecstasy trail and a 1 1/2 mile snowmaking line were installed to insure top to bottom skiing from early November to late Spring.

Second home development began in the 1960's with Viking Village. By 1976 a 45 lot development named "Sunday River Village" was initiated. Today there are more than 100 recreational homes in the Valley. This development brought great enthusiasm to the area and by late 1977 plans were on the drawing board for a four phase condominium development.

The first phase, South Ridge Condominiums, was completed for occupancy by Christmas 1978. This phase included three six unit buildings which were sold within the six month construction period. In addition, a totally new base area was developed. The Mixing Bowl T-Bar and snowmaking line were moved down the Mountain and the South Ridge Base Lodge was built. During the summer of 1978 a Poma lift was installed adjacent to T-1 for additional intermediate capacity serving the Cascades, Sunday Punch, and Crossbow Trails.

In the Fall of 1980 Les Otten became President and General Manager of Sunday River by purchasing a majority of the corporate stock from Killington. As Murphy's Law would have it, the next three seasons were poor winters for snowfall. During the 1982-83 season Sunday River was one of the few ski areas in the East to show a profit, primarily because of the snowmaking capabilities and marketing promotions such as dumping a truckload of snow on bare Boston Common. Les and his staff had perfected making lemonade from lemons, turning a poor season into a profitable one in 1983.

Since the beginning of Otten's leadership, two new chairlifts have been erected, 50 acres of snowmaking installed, three new grooming vehicles added to the fleet, five new trails cut, base facilities renovated and condominium units constructed for a total investment of 8.1 million dollars. There has been a yearly growth of 10% in skier days and revenues have kept up the pace too.

Les Otten and the Sunday River Skiway Corporation are looking forward to the next 25 years and a golden anniversary in 2009.

Answer: Paul Kailey was the first skier up the slopes in 1959.

The persons who were jobless at some time in 1983 represented 19.6% of all persons who worked or looked for work during the year. (This proportion was well below the 22.0% of 1982 and about the same as the 1981 rate of 19.5%, the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Dept. of Labor reported.

COHEN AND MITCHELL MEET WITH SHOEWORKERS AT FOOTWEAR HEARING

U. S. Senators Bill Cohen and George Mitchell recently met with Jean Hebert of Livermore Falls and Diane Walker of Bethel before a Senate hearing on legislation introduced by the Senators to limit imported footwear.

Hebert and Walker, who have led a movement of Maine shoe-workers supporting import relief for the footwear industry, testified at the hearing. In the wake of an international Trade Commission ruling last month denying trade relief to the U. S. footwear industry, the women presented a petition at the hearing signed by more than 7,000 Maine people up to the recent decision.

Mitchell and Cohen denounced the ITC ruling and decided to pursue a legislative remedy to the problem of increasing foreign imports which many contend are harming the U. S. footwear industry. Their legislation seeks to impose 50% quotas for five years on all shoe imports.

The two Senators noted that Maine is the leading shoe producing state in the country, and said that the flood of imports in recent years has devastated the Maine industry, costing more than 10,000 jobs and closing 22 plants since 1983. Cohen and Mitchell said that some relief was "absolutely necessary if this industry is to survive."

Cohen serves as Chairman of the Senate Footwear Caucus, and Mitchell is a member of the group.

McALLISTER TO TAKE OAST AS POSTMASTER ON AUG. 9 AT EAST STONEHAM

Plans for the installation of a new Postmaster at East Stoneham, Maine, have been announced. Kathleen McAllister, whose appointment to the position was announced recently, will be formally sworn into office in ceremonies scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 9, at 11 a. m. at the East Stoneham Post Office. Mrs. McAllister will take the oath of office from Kenneth N. Andre, MSC Manager/Postmaster, Portland.

The administration of an oath of office to a new postmaster is part of a historic tradition in the U. S. Postal Service, binding the new appointee to safeguard public funds as well as enforce postal rules and regulations and uphold the U. S. Constitution.

A program is planned for the occasion that will include refreshments after the installation ceremony.

The new Postmaster is one of thousands who have been appointed through merit procedures which replaced patronage type postmaster appointments frequently made before the Postal Reorganization Act of 1971.

The public is invited to attend.

SENATE PANEL APPROVES FUNDING FOR FOREST LAND IN STONEHAM

U. S. Senator Bill Cohen (Maine) said July 27 that a Senate panel has approved funding for the United States Forest Service to buy 1,775 acres of land in Stoneham for inclusion in the White Mountain National Forest.

The Lime Timber Company owns the land in question and plans to sell it in the very near future. "I believe that we should preserve this land as public resource," said Cohen.

Cohen noted that the funds for the acquisition of this property must be appropriated from the Land and Water Conservation Fund. The acquisition will cost about $900,000.

Cohen said the purchase of the land by the Forest Service would improve recreational opportunities, with Virginia Lake becoming the largest in the White Mountain National Forest. The new area would also feature such wildlife as loons, moose and bobcats, and a spectacular view of Speckled Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Grenier were supper guests Monday night of her cousin, the Roy Silvers.

Walking: The Slower Surer Way to Fitness

People walk for many reasons: for pleasure . . . to find solitudes . . . or to get from one place to another. Nearly everyone who walks regularly does so at least in part because of a conviction that it is good exercise.

Often dismissed in the past as being "too easy" to be taken seriously, walking recently has gained new respect as a means of improving physical fitness. Studies show that, when done briskly on a regular schedule it can improve the body's ability to consume oxygen during exertion, lower the resting heart rate, reduce blood pressure, and increase the efficiency of the heart and lungs. It also helps burn excess calories.

Since obesity and high blood pressure are among the leading risk factors for heart attack and stroke, walking offers protection against two of our major killers.

Walking takes longer to achieve the same results than do running and other strenuous activities, but the difference is not as great as many people believe. A major university recently measured energy expenditure by 24 healthy male students during walks, jogs and runs of varying speeds. One of their findings: jogging a mile in 8 1/2 minutes burns only 26 calories more than walking a mile in 12 minutes.

Walking is the only exercise in which the rate of participation does not decline in the middle and later years and is easily the most popular form of exercise. It is truly an exercise for all ages.

The White Mountain National Forest was visited by over 5 million people last year, according to Cohen.

"With this addition to the White Mountain National Forest, more people could enjoy fishing, boating, and hiking, and have an opportunity to enjoy the wildlife and natural scenery," said Cohen.

The town of Stoneham, along with the Appalachian Mountain Club and the Natural Resources Council of Maine, has encouraged the acquisition of the property by the U. S. Forest Service, according to Cohen.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Cellista Morgan, Corres. —

Days pass so quickly that I could hardly believe, as I walked home from the farm that Joe-Pye-Weed, Brown-Eyed-Susans, and Golden-rod greeted me all along the way. Can it be true that June and July have slipped away and August is here again? AND I'll be another year older the 4th?

"The yellow goldenrod is dressed
In gala-day attire;
The glowing redweed by the fence
Shines like a crimson fire;
And from the hot field's fartherest edge
The cricket's soft refrain With mellow accent tells the tale
That August's here again."
—Helen Maria Winslow

I saw a pair of butterflies drift
From weed to weed on an airy cruise.

A ragged fringe of daisies waved from beyond the bars.

New birds, new beauty, new flowers, spreading, shining, and rejoicing everywhere.

The big orange lilies are now arranged in all their glory.

I left the road to go across the little woods on the left, where I'd enter the Bulldozer Road then go on home. In the woods there rests a sense of peace among the trees.
I like to feel the moss-springiness and the leaves beneath my feet and hear the crunch of an acorn shell and the snap of a twig. I like the outcropping boulders covered with lichens, where I can stop and marvel at their minute etchings.
I like to sit on an old stump or rock and note the new sprouts springing up.

In these woods the overhead branches are entwined forming a green canopy, making it cool underneath, yet there's a blue window here and there. I peeked through to see the clouds and to ponder the endlessness of space.

Another lower window gave a view of the pond where ripples swept the mossy bank.

It's a garden spot to reflect and catch a glimpse of life's deeper meaning.

My hiking pal used to say, "Always and always I come away from a walk in the woods, refreshed in body and mind and spirit."

She taught me many things. We

NOTES FROM THEWOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOC.

Here is an interesting description of New England by Haydn S.
Pearson in a book called "New England Flavor":

"It's hard to put New England flavor into words. Most of the time you just feel it. How do you describe the song of a brook tumbling down a pasture hillside and the music of a mountain river cascading over granite ledges? What can you say about June sunshine on buttercup-strewn meadows and September haze shimmering over upland pastures? Words can't describe the furred noses of pussy willows testing crisp March air and golden fiddleheads unrolling beside peaceful country roads.

"New England flavor includes rocky coastlines of Maine and sandy beaches of Cape Cod. It is old lambert houses and water-stained piers. It is a blue ocean with gentle swells and white caps dancing in the sun; and it is wild tempests when angry waves crash against the shore.

"It means weathered old sap-houses among patriarchal maples;
green mountains silhouetted against a pale blue horizon; and river valleys with tall elms above clear water moving slowly toward the sea.

"New England flavor means picture-postcard villages with maple-studded commons and tall white spires pointing to the sky. It is old roads and abandoned farmhouses, plank bridges above pebbled brooks and horse sheds behind churches. New England is old, and the patina of years gives a mellowness to a land where stone walls are patchwork-quilt stitching on the countryside."

last week, and the graded sides were grass seeded. They hope to

SHOPLIFTING INCREASE IN MAINE DURING PAST YEAR

The crime of shoplifting increased last year in Maine, according to law enforcement reports compiled by the State's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Unit.

The Maine UCR statistics show 3,069 reported shoplifting crimes resulted in $140,895 worth of merchandise stolen during 1983, up 1.3% from the 3,029 reported offenses in 1982. From 1976 through 1982, reported shoplifting offenses have increased 65.4% (or by 1,214 offenses).

During the first four months of 1984, police reported 1,174 known offenses of shoplifting with a value of $49,885 worth of property loss. For the similar period of 1983 there were 977 reported offenses with $38,322 property loss.

This reflects an increase of 20.2% in offenses and 30.2% increase in the value of property stolen.

"Shoplifting—punishable by up to one year in jail and up to a $500 fine or both—results in increased consumer prices to cover the cost of stolen merchandise and beefed-up store security, plus it costs taxpayers to prosecute and jail shoplifters," said Col. Allan H. Weeks, chief of the Maine State Police.

According to Col. Weeks, "Shoplifting crosses every line of society (i.e., sex, age, income, etc.) and is non-discriminatory in nature, with those responsible who are prosecuted earning a criminal record that signifies they may not be trust worthy."

A nationwide break-down on shoplifters by the FBI shows that most shoplifters are between the ages of 13 and 19, the majority of high school students do not think shoplifting is a serious offense (yet, it represents 11% of all larcenies nationwide and 11.4% statewide), and 70% of high school students admit to shoplifting.

What can an individual do about shoplifting? Weeks said, "Don't tolerate it. If you're in a store and see someone shoplifting, alert store personnel, but don't confront the suspect yourself."

The state police advises parents to tell their children that shoplifting is a crime (and not a game), conviction could prevent them from being hired in many job fields.

In addition, parent should be overly suspicious—being inquisitive as to where children may get items an allowance won't buy.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

"No one who receives a government notice requesting payment of a penalty for underpayment of taxes should automatically pay the penalty charge without question. Millions of taxpayers have received in error U. S. Government billing notices requesting payment of penalty charges for alleged underpayment of their 1983 income taxes," said Vivian Hall, manager of H&R Block in South Paris.

Mrs. Hall said that the IRS has investigated the problem of taxpayers being sent erroneous bills for penalties they do not owe. The problem was traced to a data entry error at government tax return processing headquarters.

As a public service, the H&R Block office in South Paris will examine notices individuals receive from the government claiming that penalties for underpayment are due, even if the taxpayer has already paid the government claim. The IRS has established procedures for return of erroneous billing notices and H&R Block offices in South Paris, will handle this procedure for anyone, clients or non-clients, free of charge.

The H&R Block office is located at 43 Main Street, South Paris, across from Key Bank, and is open week days 9:00 to 5:00. Phone 748-6923.

ple—"Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior, Jesus Christ, who gave himself for us that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a people of his own, zealous of good works." Titus 2:13-14.

I Peter 2:9 "But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people."

It was a great day when the seed of salvation was planted and we rejoiced in God our Savior—and yet, was His death on the cross in vain as many no longer are "zealous of good works"—is there a falling away by the way-side? Does the glitter of gold and silver, the wooing of the world—television—fun seeking outside of Christ draw us from holy living?

Walking With Jesus Christ

Are we approaching the end of this age?

Matthew 24 and Luke 21 speak of end times—with references to old Testament prophecies. "When shall these things be? And what sign will there be when these things shall come to pass? And, what shall be the sign of Thy coming, and the end of this world? (age)."

When? — Mark 13:32 — "But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels who are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father." 33—"Take heed, watch and pray for ye know not what the time it is." James 4:14 — "Whereas ye know not what shall be on the next day."

By the events of today we can readily see we are living in tumultuous times with events the world has never seen before.

One whose heart is near as unto the Lord can sense the thunderous treading of many horses hooves—an earthly shaking as if of nations. God spoke twice—Isaiah 30:28—"to sift the nations." Amos 9:9—"I will sift the house of Israel."

The same book, vs. 10, tells us of the Lord's second advent with Israel's restoration.

As we study the Bible we can learn of the sifting—sifting out of chaff and wheat. There is no question that we are in the age of false Christs—there's a falling away of Christians even as Christ told Peter in Luke 22:31—"Satan may sift you as wheat."

God wanted a nation—Israel—as a peculiar people—Exodus 19:5—Deut. 14:2—"ye shall be a peculiar people unto me." Israel rejected Christ as the Messiah and now the Gospel is being preached throughout the world, to Jews and Gentiles alike.

The Christians, a peculiar people—

1984 MAINE DEER SEASON SET

Fish and Wildlife Deputy Commissioner Norman Trask has announced the Maine deer hunting season for 1984.

Trask said the season will be four weeks long statewide, with portions of the season throughout much of the state restricted to the hunting of antlered deer only.

The regular firearms season on deer will run from Oct. 29 to Nov. 24 statewide, with Oct. 27 also open for Maine residents only. The special archery season will be Oct. 1-26.

Only deer with a minimum antler length of three inches may be taken during the firearms season, including resident-only day, in eastern and western districts of the Southern Zone. The same restriction applies to the remainder of the Southern Zone for the first three weeks of the season, with deer of either sex becoming legal quarry Nov. 19.

The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife selected the new season dates and conditions following a meeting of its advisory Council on May 24. Trask served as the department representative at the meeting in the absence of Commissioner Glenn Mammel, who was attending salmon conservation meetings in Scotland.

The 1984 deer season dates and antlerless deer restrictions were approved by a majority of the eight member council. Under state law, the department cannot adopt a regulation without the council's consent.

Trask said that the department's original proposal was modified to address comments received at public hearings held this spring in all 16 counties, in which a majority of people attending expressed concern about excessive movement of hunters from bucks-only districts into areas where deer of either sex could be taken.

"Obviously, our primary obligation is to conserve the resource," Trask said. "However, we do feel that public concern over hunter movement is justified, especially in areas close to district or zone lines."

"The additional week of 'bucks only' hunting in the entire Southern Zone will help to minimize hunter movement and still allow the deer herd to continue rebuilding."

Trask said that all zone and district lines remain the same as last year.

The Northern-Southern Zone line is the Canadian Pacific Railroad. The Western District of the

CENSUS SURVEY HERE WILL SEEK DATA ON EMPLOYMENT STATUS & OCCUPATION

The U. S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular survey on employment and unemployment in this area during the week of Aug. 20-25, 1984, according to Arthur G. Dukakis, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Boston.

The survey is conducted for the U. S. Dept. of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in June 1984 the survey indicated that of the 113.9 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 105.7 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate dropped to 7.1%.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical data.

Southern Zone consists of coastal portions of Hancock and Washington Counties and a small section of southern Penobscot County.

The Eastern District includes all of Oxford, Cumberland, and York Counties; most of Franklin; western half of Androscoggin; southwestern portion of Somerset; and a small portion of Sagadahoc County.

"BE CHEWSY—SNACK SMART"

"Be Chewsy—Snack Smart" is the theme of this year's nutrition day camps sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service. Twenty-five nutrition day camps are being held in Oxford County including approximately 400 children in Rumford, South Paris, Milton, North Paris, Denmark, Hiram, Brownfield, Sumner, Canton, Norway, Andover, Mexico, Gilead, Bethel, and Lovell. Extension aids in nutrition and dedicated volunteers conduct the day camps.

The camps have been designed to teach children about nutritious snacks through nutrition games, skits and songs, crafts, and cooking activities. The children are learning to select nutritious snack foods low in salt, sugar and fat while sharpening their consumer skills by reading and evaluating food labels. Children are also learning cooking skills, and safe and sanitary food handling practices while preparing new snacks.

Nutrition day camps are made possible by a nation-wide Extension program called Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP). Extension in Oxford County employs nine nutrition aides to work with individual families and small groups on nutrition education. Twenty percent of their time is spent working with youth.

Safety Tip of the Week: The ozone has been especially heavy this week. People with breathing problems (either heart or lung problems) have a greater difficulty when the ozone level is high. Try not to overexert during this time as it adds more strain on the body. Take frequent breaks from especially outdoor activity, breathing slower and deeper. This helps to replenish the lungs with the oxygen available in the air.

Sent in by Viva Whitman:

Another week gone by and the days are growing shorter all the time. I don't like to think about it, but if one looks at the clock they will notice the difference in the daylight hours already.

Started the week out right by going to Norway Grange Monday night where I held an office and Russell spoke his famous piece, "Widow Comfort." It is a funny recitation and Russell does a great job speaking it and with someone on a bed or this time, a chaise longue, covered up and with a bonnet on, it was the best I have seen him do. It was hot so the one on the lounge, covered by a blanket and with a bonnet on really felt the heat. We had a good time anyway and are glad to do what we can at other granges as we have to ask for help from them.

Tuesday was a day I had been waiting for. Wynona called early in the morning to see if I would like to go visit a friend in Hollis Center who I keep in touch with. Got acquainted with her through Mother and Mother got acquainted by way of patch work pieces for quilts. I have been wanting to go see her for a long time and as Wynona was willing to drive me down, I accepted and away we went after an early lunch. The roads have been changed down that way and had to ask in a store where we were before we found her home, but had a nice two hour visit with her. One never knows when we will see another person again, so take the chance and go if you can, as I did. Russell had pulled beef greens for me to take care of and picked peas too, but I went and then worked that evening taking care of the vegetables. He had shelled most of the peas when I got home, but I washed, blanched and bagged the greens for freezing and then did the peas. They will taste good next winter when the wind is howling and it is cold. Russell had been on his knees so much picking the peas it was hard for him to get up from the chair and go, but we keep doing it anyway.

Had to do a little cleaning out in the freezer to make room for the things going in this year, so did some of it Wednesday; Russell picked the rest of the peas and I had company come. The Pearsons of Weld came to get all the information they could on formaldehyde, as Mrs. Pearson has developed asthma very badly and friends of ours in Bryant Pond had told them about the time I had with formaldehyde. I was glad to give them all the information I could and hope that they could get something to help the lady. She really has asthma badly, so if you know someone with trouble like that and they live in a mobile home, tell them to call the State Health Department in Augusta to have their homes tested for formaldehyde. It costs to have it done, but one's health can be at stake here and that is very important.

Expected Peggy to come down later in the week to stay overnight as we planned to have a yard sale if possible, so had to do a little house cleaning and shifting of furniture. Peggy brought down a load of stuff for the sale and we stored it to mark later on. Had a puzzle going and finally finished that too.

Had an appointment in South Paris on Thursday to keep and though Wynona had called to say she was sick on Wednesday, Michael, her husband came up to bring her to get work she needed to do and leave what she had already done. She still wasn't feeling good.

so he didn't stop only long enough to leave a table of mine. In the afternoon, I went to see the doctor for a back treatment and I rested after that as I had been busy most of the forenoon and my legs won't let me stay on them as long as I wish. Russell was busy fixing other things around the house, inside and out. He can always find something that needs doing.

Friday came and I needed some clean clothes, so went to do the wash, did a little shopping and came home to get busy again. Russell picked peas again and Peggy came and made signs for the yard sale we hoped to have on Saturday and Sunday. It was lucky Russell got the peas picked before the rain started.

As I said, we hoped to have a yard sale on Saturday, but as the weather didn't look good, decided to get things ready and start early on Sunday, which is what we did. Things needed prices put on them and a lot of little things needed doing that hadn't got done, so it was a busy day doing a little of this and a little of that. It was Grange night at Bear River Grange also and I made a casserole and cobbler to take as well as home made biscuits. We had a good time as usual though not a large crowd to be with us. The Deputy came for inspection and with a program arranged in a hurry, I think all enjoyed the evening. It ended as usual with Dot Canwell playing the piano and Dick Felt on harmonica. We have a musical time after the meetings whenever they come, as we all like to gather around the piano and sing the old time songs with them.

Got up bright and early Sunday morning and got things under way for the yard sale. Russell and Peggy put up the tables while I did things in the house, then I joined them and we laid things out to be looked over by all who might stop to see what we had to offer. It was a wonderful day for such an event and we had a good time being outside for the day, seeing the ones who came, whether they bought anything or not. We all like to meet people and what better way to do it. We were tired when the day was over and all put away that didn't sell, but had a good day just the same. Peggy left in the afternoon with sister Laura to go camping at Hermit Island. They have wanted to for a year or so, but just didn't get there, so am glad they have finally made it and am sure they will have a grand time while there.

I would like to say that Bear River Grange will be having Past Lecturers and Past Masters night on Aug. 11, and am extending an invitation to any and all Grangers who would like to come to do so. There will be a pot luck supper before the meeting at 6:30, so bring something and come join us for a good evening, or at least I hope it will be a good one. I try my best and one can't do more than that, but come, whether you have received a special invitation by card or not. I don't know all the folks to invite and this is my way of doing so. Hope to see a lot of you there and see if we have more Past Lecturers or Past Masters. We'll just have to wait and see.

This week's seven new programs have drawn the largest number of participants and staff of the summer, with 200 people in residence. Of these, more than half are living at local inns or motels, or have rented houses from Bethel owners. The remainder are residing at the NTL Conference House on Broad Street, in the NTL Clusters, or in the Gould Academy dormitories.

Continuing on from previous weeks, but in new programs, are a number of participants whose homes are in Brazil, India, Canada, South Africa, Trinidad, and Costa Rica. Newly arrived participants have come to Bethel this week from Israel, Belgium, Austria, Malaysia, France, Holland, Spain and Jamaica, as well as from all other the United States.

NTL's Sunrise Seminars are continuing on a daily basis, Tuesday through Saturday, at 7:30 a. m. in the Maine Room, behind the Conference Center, and are open to the Bethel Community. The topics are announced on posters which are placed at a number of prominent locations around Bethel, West Bethel and Locke Mills. For the remainder of this week, the topics are: Friday—Otto Kroeger, "How Much Does Your Personality Weigh?"; and Saturday—Trudi Ferguson, "The Ways Women and Men Work."

1984 TRAPPING SEASONS SET

Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Glenn Manuel has announced Maine's 1984 furbearer trapping and hunting seasons.

Following a unanimous favorable vote by the Fish and Wildlife Advisory Council, Manuel set an October 28 statewide opening date for the trapping season on bobcat, coyote, fisher, fox, raccoon, otter, skunk, weasel, marten, mink and muskrat.

The trapping season will close Dec. 4 in the Southern Zone, south of the Canadian Pacific Railroad mainline track, and on Dec. 15 north of that line.

In addition to the regular muskrat trapping season, muskrats may be trapped during the beaver trapping season in areas which are open to beaver trapping.

Manuel said no traps are to be set above ground level or snow in December.

Also set were the following statewide furbearer hunting seasons: raccoon—Oct. 28 through Dec. 15; and fox—Oct. 28 through Feb. 15.

The commissioner and council also approved a rule making it lawful to trap wild animals with a common cage live trap, and they repealed a rule that restricted trapping to water sets only in Richlandstown Township.
